

Interdisciplinary Training Program in Education Sciences

Who Needs Education Research? Perspectives from the "Consumer" Side

Symposium Panel

Norma Baker

WCER Visiting Minority Scholar and Director of Elementary Education, Los Angeles Unified School District

Lisa Wachtel

Director of Teaching and Learning, Madison Metropolitan School District

Steve Kailin

WCER Researcher and Outreach Specialist

12-1:30 PM
Friday, November 10
253 Education Sciences

If education research is to have practical value, it must be useful to consumers. In this symposium, three experts whose decisions and recommendations could potentially be influenced by research will speak about what makes research useful, what barriers exist to using research in school systems, and how educators and researchers can establish productive relationships. The symposium is jointly sponsored by the ITP and the WCER Visiting Minority Scholars Program.